On Upper River

To Back Irrigation Project Despite Blair's Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reclamation Bureau is backing the Garrison, N. D., diversion plan in spite of criticism of it by Gov. James T. Blair Jr. of Missouri.

Floyd E. Dorniny, associate commissioner of the Bureau, told a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today that people in North Dakota are entitled to irrigation waters in return for sacrifices they made in the building of the Garrison Dam and reservoir.

The Garrison Diversion Plan is to divert water from the Missouri River for eventual irrigation of one million acres of land, principally in northern, central and eastern areas of North Dakota.

Blair in a letter to the committee said "it appears that we are at the mercy of the whims of the various federal agencies and the upper basin states who feel that they are entitled to all the water for their own use."

Blair said Missouri should be assured of rights to water to meet every need for any industrial, population or municipal purpose.

The Garrison diversion proposal is one part of the over-all development of the Missouri River Basin. The Garrison and other dams and reservoirs are under construction in the upper reaches to aid in flood control, navigation, irrigation and other water uses.

Dorniny, in reply to Blair's letter, said that in spite of diverting water for irrigation purposes the major share of the Missouri's water will still be available for use along the lower reaches of the river.

Dorniny said 1,700,000 acres of

Secret Talks Have Started

Precedent-Setting Session Conducted Aboard Plane

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Ministers of the Big Four nations began secret talks on German issues and a summit conference here today after a precedent-setting sky session on a transatlantic flight from Washington.

First indications from Western informants were that the talks on the 17-hour flight had not produced any real progress.

Jukebox Figures Indicted

Teamster Leader Is Among Those Grand Jury Names

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A top-ranking national leader of the Teamsters Union and a dozen other men were held today on indictments by a grand jury which investigated jukebox industry rackets on Long Island.

The president of a New York City local of the Teamsters Union and other teamsters officials were among 15 men indicted Thursday night.

John J. O'Rourke, 59, an international vice president of the union and head of the Teamsters' Joint Council 16 in New York City, was one of those arrested. He was freed in bail after a couple of hours in jail.

O'Rourke is a long-time friend of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and was named general organizer of the union last December.

Most of those indicted were arrested within a short time after the indictments were handed up by a Nassau County grand jury. The bulk of the defendants were charged with conspiracy, coercion, extortion or attempted extortion.

Nassau County Dist. Atty. Manuel Levine told newsmen that "our evidence indicates that O'Rourke is an important member of this conspiracy."

Delivery of the indictments in court was a signal for 30 county detectives to fan out from this New York City suburb with bench warrants calling for the arrest of the accused.

Lay Delegates Named At Methodist Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Three lay delegates to the Methodist General Conference in Denver next year were named yesterday by the Southwest Missouri Conference.

They are Dr. Robert G. Mayfield of Lebanon; Mrs. T. B. Yeakley of Joplin and N. Guy Hall of Springfield.

The ministers elected the Rev. Clarence P. Folkins of Springfield and the Rev. Forrest L. Standard, superintendent of the Marshall district as their delegates to the church's international legislative assembly, held every four years.

Robbery May Lead to New Crime Ring

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Gunmen snatched a valise which police said contained more than three million Cuban pesos from an American woman in a quiet residential district here Thursday night, and wounded her with a shot as they fled.

A quick investigation led to the arrest of the woman, identified as Marilyn (Mae) Thall Beyeff of Miami, Fla., and a score of other persons—both some of her associates and men suspected of engineering the holdup.

Even while pressing the inquiry into the robbery, police said today they believe they have stumbled on an international ring dealing in foreign currencies, jewels and perhaps narcotics.

Mrs. Beyeff's husband, A. Karl Beyeff, was among the persons rounded up. He was taken into custody after he called police headquarters from a downtown hotel to inquire about her.

Police said the stolen valise contained 3,767,500 Cuban pesos—nominally worth the same amount of dollars but actually of restricted value because of currency regulations imposed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Havana government.

Police said the money had been brought to Mexico for black market conversion at a rate of 36 cents a peso.

Details were vague, but this was a police outline:

Four U.S. citizens and three Mexicans were involved in the attempt to sell the currency. They left their apartment with the money.

The gunmen drove up, fired twice, and made off with the valise.

One of the bullets struck Mrs. Beyeff in an arm.

The money was not recovered and, of the holdup gang, at least the driver of the getaway car was still at large.

Goes to Gov. Blair

Bill To Protect Boundaries Of Counties Passes House Today

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to protect the boundaries of existing cities in second, third and fourth class counties passed the Missouri House today and was sent to Gov. James T. Blair.

It provides that no new city or town can be incorporated within two miles of an established city. But if the suburbanites band together they can ask the city to annex them. Then if the city fails to act on the petition within a year, the group can incorporate.

Another bill sent to the governor would give Missouri's Civil Defense Agency only two more years of existence unless the next legislature enacts legislation extending it further.

Last night a few Missouri judges worked diligently to find 10 more supporters for their once dead pay raise.

House defeated compromise that would have redistricted the state's judicial circuits and given the judges—circuit, appellate and supreme court jurists—an increase of $1,750 a year. The bill fell 10 votes shy of passage.

The judges obtained copies of the roll call and began working on House members who voted against the bill or declined to vote.

The bill started in the Senate, with a $2,500 increase for the judges. The House cut it to $1,000 and the bill went into a House-Senate conference. The conference compromised on $1,750.

Many rural members of the House said they couldn't tell welfare recipients and others who depend on state services that the state couldn't afford to help them any more but could raise judicial pay.

In a night session, the House voted 82-28 for a proposed change in the constitution so legislators could set their own pay. They have complained for years they take a beating for the $125 a month they get.

They also get $10 a day for every session they attend, plus roundtrip travel costs once a session. The new proposal would give them 10 cents a mile roundtrip expenses twice a month.

Sponsors said they pay wouldn't get out of hand because the legislators who raise it wouldn't benefit unless they win re-election. The constitution provides no elected official can get a pay raise during his term in office.

Last night Rep. James G. Trimble (D) of Clay County pointed to the problems of fitting a billion dollar budget to anticipated state revenue and of solving all the other problems of a swiftly expanding state government.

"A hundred and twenty-five dollars for what we've been going through these past five months is ridiculous," he said.

Other members said the voters, looking at the legislative record, would never raise the pay of legislators, let alone give them the power to set it themselves.

"I think a great many here are overpaid now," said Rep. J. S. Wallace (D) of Scott County.

Nevertheless, Western officials seemed reasonably sure that a formula can be found in the next 10 days or two weeks.

The four ministers met in late afternoon at the residence of the British foreign secretary. Advisory delegations from East and West Germany which participated in the first two weeks of sessions at the Palace of Nations were not present.

The four ministers were in a jovial mood. Herter was first off the plane, Gromyko following. Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding, who had ridden in an accompanying aircraft, issued a statement on behalf of the four:

"The four foreign ministers had an opportunity on the aircraft of reviewing the progress of the Geneva conference and to discuss certain details of their respective positions. All agreed that their exchange of views had been most useful. The four ministers agreed to meet again privately and informally at 5 o'clock at Mr. Lloyd's Geneva residence."

Berding supplied some details of the conference in the clouds after talking briefly with Herter.

The four ministers took off from Washington in midafternoon. For the first hour they chatted informally and read newspapers and magazines and the like. Then they organized a meeting—with about as much secrecy as they will ever get—and talked about conference issues for an hour and a half.

A Russian adviser and several American officials were seated near the conferring group of ministers.

Park Finance Bill Squeaks Past Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to extend the present system of financing state parks squeaked through the Missouri Senate yesterday after a long fight.

It started as a 20-year extension but the Senate cut that to 12 years and decided that after 1973 the legislature will appropriate what it thinks is reasonably necessary for the parks.

The Senate added a gimmick intended to operate in times like the present when the state's finances are in a pinch. It will permit the legislature to cut park appropriations to meet budgetary demands—but never reduce them below the amount appropriated the year before.

Farmers of the 1945 constitution took park appropriations out of the legislature's hands for 15 years by requiring the assembly to appropriate an amount equal to what would be raised by a one-cent property tax on each $100 assessed valuation.

That plan raises about $700,000 a year but is scheduled to expire in 1961.

If the House approves the Senate changes, the proposed constitutional amendment goes before the voters next year.

Killed was a bill that would have added three new school holidays to the law—New Year's Day, Memorial Day and Labor Day.

Four Persons Hurt In Two Car Accident

Hieronymus Family, Air Base Personnel Taken to Hospitals

Four persons were injured and four others escaped injury about 6:20 p.m. Thursday when two cars collided head on, 14 miles north of Sedalia on U.S. Highway 65 at the County Road BB junction.

The Samuel Hieronymus family, 44 Star Route, Sedalia, was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where they were treated by Dr. Donald C. Proctor.

According to reports received, Mr. Hieronymus received abrasions and a neck injury; his wife, Lilly, received abrasions and bruises, while Anthony, their three-year-old son, received abrasions of the chest. Another son riding with Hieronymus was not injured.

A/2c Arnold Leon Hale, White-man Air Force Base, his wife and two children were taken to the hospital at the Air Base. Hale had several teeth knocked out while members of his family were not injured.

Ewing's ambulance took both families to the respective hospitals from the wreck scene.

According to Trooper Richard Joos, Missouri Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident, the collision occurred just as the 1952 Plymouth, driven south on 65 by Hieronymus, turned left to enter road BB. Joos said the Plymouth turned directly in front of the 1957 Buick driven north on Highway 65 by Hale.

The left front ends of the two vehicles were demolished by the terrific crash.

The Plymouth was towed to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker while the Buick car was towed to Sedalia by Parks Cities Service wrecker.

Holiday Under Way

Honor Nation's Dead In Memorial Service

By The Associated Press
America's revered dead—military heroes of the nation's five major wars since the struggle for independence—will be honored Saturday in the 91st annual observance of Memorial Day.

The ceremonies, spreading from coast to coast, across the Pacific to Hawaii and northward to Alaska, will center chiefly at national cemeteries, battlefields and other shrines.

The long holiday weekend got under way today as millions, traveling by train, car and plane, started an exodus from crowded cities to resort areas.

America has counted 1,128,393 killed in the five major wars since the revolution, and countless thousands will pay homage at gravesites in large and small communities throughout the nation.

Saturday's scheduled activities are varied in form:

At Rindge, N.H., Daughters of the Confederacy and Daughters of Union Veterans will lay wreaths on an altar on a pine-clad hill. The scene of the joint commemoration will be the altar of the nation, recognized by Congress as

Takes New Tack In Conflict On Use Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—House leaders took a new tack today in the legislature's desperate try for agreement on a use tax.

With less than three days of the session left, the House discharged the conference committee that reported failure to reach a compromise with Senate conferees.

In its place, Speaker Richard H. Ichord (D) of Texas County turned the House end of the conflict over to the same conferees who are trying to put appropriation bills in their final form.

"If they don't agree, they can cut the appropriations accordingly," he told the House. "If they do reach an agreement, we can all get ready to go home."

The new House conferees are the appropriations chairman, Rep. Paul M. Berra (D) of St. Louis and these other members:

Reps. George D. Young (D) of Howard County, F. E. Robinson (D) of Knox County, R. J. King (R) of St. Louis County and Robert E. Young (R) of Jasper County.

The new move came after the original conferees reported a tight deadlock over the question of writing an exemption section that would be acceptable to both sides.

Final appropriation bills, drafted with the expectation of 8 million dollars a year in use tax revenue, were again held up.

Sen. John W. Noble (D) of Kennett, Senate Appropriations chairman, indicated it wouldn't take long to act on the money bills once the use tax deadlock is broken.

A 2 per cent use tax was proposed on goods bought outside the state for use in Missouri to pick up the revenue from transactions which now escape the 2 per cent retail sales tax.

As passed by the House, the bill would have raised an estimated 8 million a year. But the Senate wrote in broad exemptions on new and expanding industries so the bill was estimated by some to be

Arlington--National Symbol

Sometime Memorial Day, amid the patriotic community gatherings, the private family picnics, or recreation excursions to the lakes or elsewhere, sometime Memorial Day we ought to reflect in a quiet moment on the significance of the day.

For those who, in person or in thoughts, decorate the grave of a loved one killed in war or a veteran of war, no reminder is necessary. They know too well what memory means.

But for all of us, there is one spot in this land to which our hearts can turn, an expanse of wooded Virginia hills overlooking Washington—Arlington National Cemetery, the most hallowed ground in the United States.

Recently, in this land which symbolizes all American war dead, the 100,000th person, a World War I veteran, was buried.

Arlington is no stranger to war or famous names. Its ownership can be traced back through Robert E. Lee to George Washington's stepson. The Union Army took possession of the hills in 1861 after the outbreak of the Civil War to protect the capital. Thousands of Union troops camped on Arlington's slopes following the first battle of Bull Run.

With Washington's hospitals crowded with wounded and sick and dying soldiers, Abraham Lincoln gave permission for the site to be used for burials.

The first was recorded on May 13, 1864, when a Pennsylvania private, William Christman, was laid to rest. And now, the 100,000th . . .

Three unknown soldiers are especially honored at Arlington, for the two World Wars and Korea. They represent 4,724 other nameless soldiers buried at Arlington and 151,804 other unidentified war dead in U. S. military cemeteries around the world.

Arlington also shelters such military heroes as John J. Pershing, Philip H. Sheridan, Henry H. Arnold and the explorers Robert E. Peary and Charles Wilkes. One president, William Howard Taft, is buried there. Also at Arlington are the graves of 230 men who perished with the battleship Maine in Havana Harbor.

The day will come when the last soldier is laid to his eternal rest in Arlington, if only because there is no more room. At the present rate of 90 burials a week, the land will be filled by 1970.

But Arlington will always remain the national symbol that it is. May the memories it guards inspire in us the resolve that the day will come when the last military burial anywhere takes place and the last veteran passes into history.

That is the thought and the hope that this Memorial Day should bring to us, and our children.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Costs of Running White House Soar

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The soaring cost of running the White House under Eisenhower as compared with Truman has now been made official by the House appropriations committee, as a result of prodding by Congressman Jack Shelley of San Francisco, the Democrat who also gets elected on the Republican ticket.

When this column reported that Ike's White House costs had doubled those of Truman, there were denials on Capitol Hill. However, a study made by the Library of Congress, based on budget bureau figures, shows that Truman's costs in 1952 were $3,021,215; Eisenhower's for 1956 will be $5,401,000.

Care and upkeep of the White House and grounds in the last year of Truman were $335,000; the same costs under Ike for 1956 were $515,000. Salaries and expenses of the White House staff total $2,052,000 for 1956 under Eisenhower, which is $168,000 more than under Truman in 1952, and incidentally seven times as much as under Roosevelt in 1940.

"In addition," states the Library of Congress report, "$1,500,000 has been requested for fiscal year 1960 for the services of 101 persons hired for special White House projects. This staff gives assistance to the President on particular problems of public policy.

"The budget for fiscal 1960," continues the report, "asks for $1,055,000 of pay the expense and salaries of 170 White House police. This amount is seven times the $150,650 provided in 1938 (under FDR) and nearly twice the $652,000 voted in 1952 (under Truman). Excluded are the police employed for the personal protection of the President and his family."

The present White House budget of approximately $5,000,000, says the Library of Congress study, "does not include the numerous agencies which act in an advisory capacity to the President." Appropriations amounting to $97,226,000 were requested for the fiscal year 1960 for the entire executive office of the President—including the budget bureau, civil defense, etc.

Not in White House Budget

The Library of Congress listed other services enjoyed by the President, but paid for by the Army, Air Force, and other agencies.

"President Eisenhower has at his disposal a fleet of limousines, planes, helicopters, two cabin cruisers. . . . All supported by the federal taxpayers. The air fleet available for the President's use consists of a four-engine Super Constellation, a 6-passenger Aero-Commander, and a number of helicopters. In addition, three Boeing 707 jet airliners are on order for use of the President, high-ranking officials, and heads of state.

"The Super Constellation Columbia III. . . . Cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. . . . The Air Force estimates the per hour cost of running the plane is approximately $711.

"It is reported that at least 20 cars are rented on a regular basis for use by the President and his staff. Additional vehicles are made available when the use arises. The President is reported to have three cars: a recent-model Cadillac, a bubbletop Lincoln costing $30,000, and a Chrysler Imperial equipped with a sliding roof. Two heavily constructed Cadillacs costing about $65,000 each are occupied by secret service men who accompany the President. The Army furnishes chauffeurs for this fleet of cars.

"President Eisenhower also has a motorized golf cart which cost approximately $1,000. It is driven by a secret service man."

The report on presidential expenses spells out the fact that although the yacht Williamsburg was given up by President Eisenhower in 1953, it was tied up at the Washington Navy yard until 1957. Democratic congressmen claim it was used during this four-year period for social functions by members of the cabinet and White House staff, though this was not admitted by the White House.

"In place of the Williamsburg," says the Library of Congress report, "President Eisenhower has the use of two naval vessels, the Barbara Anne and the Susie E, named for his granddaughters. The 92-foot Barbara Anne cost about $140,000 to recondition and the 60-foot Susie E about $35,000. It is estimated that the Navy spends approximately $60,000 each year for their maintenance."

WHY PRAY FOR THE DEAD?

By Rev. Thomas J. Riley, author of "Theology for Everyman"

On Memorial Day 1958 in the Arlington National Cemetery the bodies of two more "unknown soldiers" were interred at the monument for the World War I hero "known only to God." At such ceremonies we honor our war dead and offer prayers for those courageous souls who died in order that we might live. Since these public tributes have become part of our American tradition, it will help us appreciate Memorial Day services more if we understand just why we pray for the dead.

The answer to the question, "Why pray for the dead?" will be found in the one word, "love." We cherish the memory of the dead because we love them, and we are moved by our love for them to pray for their souls. We love them first of all because of what they have done to give glory to God and because they have merited eternal life by their obedience to the laws of God.

But we also pray for the souls of our departed relatives and friends because we are realistically conscious of their human limitations and failings. We know through God's own revelation that the dead cannot enter heaven until they have made satisfaction for the temporal punishment which God's justice inflicts on them because of their sins. We pray for them because we have God's assurance that our prayers can become as it were links in the chain by which God unites them to Himself in the bonds of love.

Memorial Day services for the dead cannot be fully understood in a truly Christian spirit unless we think of the dead in their present relationship with God. It is not enough that we love the dead, but we as Christians must take into account the possibility that their souls may be in Purgatory rather than in Heaven. If such is the case, the souls of our loved ones may be in a position to be helped by the prayers and good works which we offer in their behalf.

Certainly it is natural for every man, woman and child to want in some way to help his departed loved ones. It is a most consoling thought to realize that although our relatives and friends are no longer with us on earth we can through our prayers and sacrifices help them gain heaven. The prayers and the sacrifices that will be offered for the dead in years to come have entered from all eternity into God's plan for saving their souls.

Memorial Day in which we honor our dead is a day which is in keeping with the Christian spirit of our Founding Fathers. In honoring the dead and praying for them in the spirit of true Christian charity, we serve as God's instruments in bringing them from the darkness of Purgatory to the eternal light of their heavenly home. — (Paulist Feature Service)

And at the evening sacrifice I arose up from my heaviness; and having rent my garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the Lord my God. — Ezra 9:5.

Dear Lord, who sought at dawn of day, In solitary woods to pray, In quietness we come to ask Thy presence for our daily task. — Harry W. Farrington.

Khrushchev's Reasons Are Not Known

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sly one is Nikita Khrushchev. He has everyone hopping and no one knows why.

What he said is well known, but not why he said it.

This is a fact apt to be obscured in all the millions of words coming out of the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Those ministers, after almost three weeks of getting nowhere, flew here for John Foster Dulles' funeral. They flew back Thursday to resume their talks today.

But since the Western ministers only know what Premier Khrushchev demanded — demands that brought on the conference—but don't know why, they are really working in the dark.

Last Nov. 27 he called on the Western Allies to get their troops out of Berlin and sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Since then there have been all kinds of guesses as to his reason. But one thing is sure: With a few words he put the West on the defensive and it is still there.

When Khrushchev made his demands, he also indicated he was willing to back them up by a showdown with the West.

The West could have said: "All right, mister, show your muscle. You want trouble? Start it. We're not budging and we're not even going to discuss it. We're in Berlin and we stay there."

Instead, to avoid the showdown, the Western Allies agonized themselves for months on how to find some peaceful solution to the challenge Khrushchev raised. They finally proposed the Geneva conference to discuss Berlin and other things.

In the end, the Big Four may reach some minor agreement on concession in return for some Soviet concession.

But since Khrushchev started with nothing—the Allies were in Berlin—any concession from the West will be good horsetrading for him.

It's possible he never thought through his demands at all but simply made them to keep the West jumpy and off balance.

On Nov. 27 he gave the Allies six months to get their troops out of Berlin. They looked on that as a deadline, which would have been May 27. It excited them.

Later Khrushchev casually brushed aside the thought they had to be out of Berlin absolutely by May 27. He said he just picked the six months' idea off the ceiling. Maybe that's where he got his original idea, too.

Khrushchev may have the notion that if he can keep the West fully occupied somewhere—as in Berlin—it won't have time for, from his viewpoint, mischief somewhere else.

These were some of the guesses on why he raised the Berlin issue.

To gain recognition for the East German Communist regime and strengthen its grip on the East German people; to strengthen, if the West backed down on Berlin, the Soviet grip on the whole satellite world; to try, by this simple maneuver on Berlin, to split the Allies or probe a bit to see where divisions lay.

Since everything was quiet and he had nothing to start with, anything he gains out of his Berlin demands will be so much gravy.

While We Aren't Looking, Cost of Services Mount

By FAYE HENLE

No matter what you think, you do exert considerable control over prices.

Friends of mine installed color TV antennas when they built homes several years ago. Yet, these friends have no color TV today. Why? They simply aren't interested in the price tags on the available sets.

After several market studies the TV makers have discovered that while the majority of their customers would gladly pay up to 20 per cent more for color, they aren't willing to exceed this limit. Until the industry can make a color TV set to sell at a price their customers are willing to pay, they can't hope for a sales boom.

The same holds true for electronic ovens. A couple of years ago we believed these would be standard equipment. Who wouldn't want an oven that could cut the cooking time of a roast to a mere 30 minutes? Yet, who'll spend around $1,000 for this privilege? Very few of us.

The automobile industry at last is catching on. They are working to produce smaller, less expensive cars.

As part of its fight against inflation, Washington as caught on that it is you rather than the manufacturer that dictates price. Under consideration are public hearings that would be held by the President's Council of Economic Advisers whenever a major price or wage increase loomed.

Though no one has told me so specifically, I think the intent here would be to signal everyone — workers, manufacturers and consumers — so that immediate action could be taken to halt proposed increases before they became reality and more of us got hurt than got helped.

Already many different kinds of manufacturers are aware that you are the one deciding prices. The exact reverse is happening in some industries from what happened in the early postwar years.

Then the big pitch in manufacturing was upgrading. You were tired of makeshift, shoddy merchandise. You had savings earmarked for specific purchases. As soon as these goods became available you bought. Not only were you eager to buy, but you willingly paid the price.

Today this situation has altered. You are spending considerably more than twice as much as you did 10 years ago to keep your car, your TV sets and household appliances and furnishings in repair. Services are taking a bigger and bigger slice of your spending. You are spending less proportionately for clothing, more on your home and furnishings.

The cost of services is something you do not appear to be watching as closely as the cost of the products you buy. It might pay you to give this some thought.

In the long run, I think each one of us would profit if we checked prices carefully and made certain that we were getting the best possible value in terms of our requirements. I urge this as a countermove to the possibility of government-imposed controls on prices and wages.

Here is a specific instance where you can help in the fight against inflation.

Matter of FACT

When Michelangelo was a young boy in Caprese, a small town near Florence, Italy, he knew he wanted to be an artist. His father looked on painting as a common "trade." In spite of this, Michelangelo became one of the greatest painters and sculptors of all times. When he died in 1564, he left behind him works of art that are among the most treasured in the world.

Symington Hits Campaign Trail With New Technique

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Senator Stuart Symington is hitting the campaign trail via the speech route to key spots.

Democratic leaders from coast to coast are finding the appearance of this Presidential-Possibility is an easy way to raise campaign funds. The largest audience this year greeted him (5,000 strong) at a Jefferson-Jackson dinner in Philadelphia on April 21 and even bigger banquets are ahead on a packed California schedule in the next ten days. He'll be a guest of Governor "Pat" Brown in Sacramento and make talks in San Francisco, San Diego, and Los Angeles.

A fast election-time pace was set not so long ago in the State of Washington when he made 14 speeches in 2½ days.

The Missouri Democrat isn't the gifted speaker of his rival Senator Hubert Humphrey but he's developing a new technique that is "clicking," according to his able Administrative Assistant, Stanley Fike who accompanies Symington on his political treks.

Probably it was the knowledgeable Fike who insisted that advance texts be given the press

"because it is the only certain way to get the senator's message printed." But more and more he is making those advance-copies shorter and depending on filling in with extemporaneous observations. (This means reporters must cover in person and not dare leave early.) Evidence that his new approach is good came from a political reporter, Edwin Bagley, who wrote in the Milwaukee Journal: "That chore finished (meaning the reading of prepared speech), Symington discarded his text and spoke with new force."

The Milwaukee Sentinel, for once, agreed with The Journal in its lead: "Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat, really didn't get Wisconsin Democrats raised to fighting pitch until he threw away his canned speech and tore into communist conspiracy."

That rated him a 96 point front page streamer "SYMINGTON LAMBASTS REDS."

Fike, a one time newspaper man, may have impressed his boss on the importance of "the local angle" because Symington includes his opinion on national issues of special local importance.

In the dairy state of Wisconsin, he said the GOP treated farmers like second class citizens. Without calling Benson by name, he blistered the Agriculture department "which points a finger at the farmer as a price-gouger, a ne'er do well, always running to Washington for hand-outs."

Some Democratic White House hopefuls would not be too welcome at a Southern Chamber of Commerce annual dinner, but Symington spoke at such a gathering in Winston-Salem, N. C.

He was introduced by businessman Ralph P. Hanes, not known as a New Dealer. But Symington is known as a successful businessman.

What are some of the subjects the tall, handsome Man from Missouri likes to talk about?

Here are some highlights from several talks:

"Reds lead in the War of ideas . . . but the United States can win with similar weapons."

"This nation can win this war if we go out and fight for the free American life not with guns and bullets but with words and ideals."

He accuses the administration of wasteful spending and blasts administration management.

"The Administration is most at fault for not giving us the facts about the current danger."

Many who do not know the aristocratic-looking senator might not think he would like this free and easy travel meeting hundreds of people, talking to many from a stage or in a smoke-filled hotel room, but he does. The experience stimulates him and his speeches reflect his zest for the contest.

Mother was trying to answer the endless questions of her four-year-old girl when Father overheard one of the questions.

"Why you know what your toes are for, don't you?" he asked. "I know what my big toe is for," she replied.

A little curious he asked, "What is your big toe for?" "To wiggle when I buy new shoes."—H. L.

"I want some of those 'Thor-oughbred' pencils," the man told the girl who asked to wait on him in a local store.

The girl looked puzzled. "We don't have any," she told him.

"Yes, you do," insisted the man. "I got some in here the other day. And he began looking over the pencils. Finally he picked up a pencil from the counter and said, 'Here they are.'"

The girl smiled and sold him the pencils. The name of the pencil was "Pedigree."—H. L.

2 Important Projects Set By Kiwanians

Two major projects are scheduled for Sedalia Kiwanis club activities during the month of June, in addition to numerous minor ones, according to President Sylvan Woolery.

The club's first project is a Crippled Children's Bowling Benefit to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, June 12 at Broadway Lanes. Second is the annual auction sale downtown Saturday, June 27 to raise funds for the Boys and Girls Work committee, and to equip a room at Bothwell Memorial Hospital.

Under leadership of Bill Dugan, general chairman of the bowling benefit and Norman Pittcain, general chairman of the auction, committee work to arrange the details has already intensified. Both chairmen have reviewed the work program involved at the past two club meetings, along with the names of 18 committees which will be required to implement the two projects.

Cooperating to publicize the activities will be the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, Radio Station KDRO and KTSV, and Television Station KMOS-TV. The latter will telecast the bowling event.

Management of Broadway Lanes is a joint participant in the Crippled Children's activity and will turn over receipts that evening to the fund which has been so generously supported in the past. This year's bowling benefit goal is $2,000.

Public participation will be encouraged by adoption of numerous interest-compelling features during the bowling competition between individuals and teams from local organizations. All alleys will be kept in constant operation for five or six hours, or longer if necessary.

Further details will be announced from time to time as the committees compile them.

Missouri Drivers Favored To Win Memorial Day Race

Torch, Taylor Picked Over Fairgrounds Record Field

Two popular veterans from mid-Missouri loom as dual favorites for the running of the Midwest Modified Motorama at the Missouri State Fairgrounds on Memorial Day.

Torch Aleshire of Moberly and Ken Taylor of Slater, winners of previous state championships at the Missouri State Fair, are rated as the drivers to beat for the $1,500 cash purse.

To win, however, they'll have to out-drive the biggest and most formidable field of modified stock cars ever assembled for a race on the half-mile track at the state fairgrounds.

Aleshire, winner of two state championships, will be driving a modified powered by a souped-up 1958 Studebaker Golden Hawk engine. Taylor, victor of the 1958 State Fair feature, will pilot a modified powered by a 1958 Buick engine.

Another certain threat is Walter Sorrels of Columbia. Driving a Pontiac powered modified, Sorrels has won three of the last four CMRA feature races. Russ and Roy Hibbard, brothers from Marshall, both wheel Pontiac powered cars and rate strong consideration.

Several outstanding out-state drivers are already in the fold. Walt McWherter of Herrington, Kan., winner of the Grand National Modified championship in 1957 and '58, heads the list. Jack Penwell of Tulsa, Okla., will pilot a '58 Ford, owned by Clifford Hughes. Hughes, mastermind of the Zinc Special of big car racing, has taken full advantage of the modified stock car rule which provides that "anything goes that doesn't show" on the engine.

British Amateur Golf In Semi-Finals Today

SANDWICH, England (AP) — The British Amateur golf semifinals today looked more like the semifinals of the U.S. National Amateur.

Three Americans were among the last four survivors, with English champion Guy Wolstenholme the only home-grown player blocking the way to the fifth all-American final in history.

The 6-foot-5 Briton was paired against 21-year-old Dean Beman of Silver Spring, Md.

The other semifinal matched American Walker cupper Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., and Lt. Bob Magee, a little-known American Army officer from Newton, Mass.

The semifinals are 36 holes, with the 36-hole final over the Royal St. George's Links Saturday.

The last time three Americans reached the semifinals was in 1952.

Hyndman, 46-year-old insurance broker who has yet to win a major title, is favorite for the championship after playing the finest golf of the week on this 6,728-yard links.

Maxie Silencer of LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — A ventriculordecotomy settled a law suit.

It was performed by Dr. J. E. Spoon, veterinary surgeon, to correct the noisy barking of Maxie, a dachshund — reducing it to something like a gentle cough.

Miss Priscille G. Ferry, who the barking had bothered, then withdrew her suit against Miss Sara G. Hayden, Maxie's owner.

Arizona was admitted as a state on Feb. 14, 1912.

Johnson Up Against Nino Valdez Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Alonzo Johnson, an ambitious young man from Pittsburgh, tonight bumps up against the road block that has discouraged so many young heavyweights. The block is a giant-sized Cuba, 34-year-old Nino Valdez.

Valdez, a 224-pounder is the man who stopped Hurricane Jackson when he was soaring in 1954. He scored a one-round knockout over Joe Erskine a few months after Joe had won the British title. He whipped Mike DeJohn twice and destroyed Pat McMurtry in one round. In his latest start he stopped Dan Hodge in eight.

Valdez is No. 8 among the contenders in the National Boxing Assn. ratings. Johnson, 24, isn't ranked. He will be giving away plenty of pounds to Nino.

The 10-round match will be nationally broadcast and telecast (NBC) starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Meter Candidate

SAND SPRINGS, Okla. (AP) — A candidate for mayor, Hugh Bryant, has a novel way of campaigning. He watches for cars parked at meters that have run out of time and drops in a few pennies. Then he explains in a printed note what he did, also getting in a plug for himself in the message.

Bob Friend Hangs Up His First Shutout

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Friend finally made it.

Last year no pitcher in the majors won more than the husky righthander who became Pittsburgh's biggest winner in 30 years with a 22-14 record. Yet somehow he couldn't win even one this year through 10 starts that left him an 0-7 record.

Thursday, he made it, pitching his first complete game and hanging up the first shutout of the year by the Pirates' staff with a four-hitter that beat Milwaukee's National League leading Braves 3-0.

"Thank goodness that's over," said Friend, who actually had lost eight in a row counting his final decision of 1958. "I've been snake bit for six weeks."

By salvaging the final game of a series that opened with Harvey Haddix' heart-breaking 1-0 defeat Tuesday night, the Pirates reclaimed third place, 4½ games behind the Braves. They also shaved Milwaukee's lead to two games over the San Francisco Giants, who beat St. Louis 5-4.

The Chicago Cubs battled from behind and beat Los Angeles 7-5 in the ninth, skidding the Dodgers to fourth. Last place Philadelphia spiked Cincinnati's bid to quit the second division by beating the Reds 4-3.

In the American League, Kansas City rapped first place Cleveland 7-2, trimming the Indians' lead to a half-game over the Chicago White Sox, whose game with Detroit was rained out. Third place Baltimore whipped New York 5-0 as Hoyt Wilhelm again shut out the Yankees. Boston beat Washington 3-1 on the two-hit pitching of Frank Sullivan.

The Pirates won it with three in the fifth against loser Joey Jay (2-3), who had a one-hitter 'til then.

The Cubs, who fell behind 3-1 in the first inning as the Dodgers chased starter Seth Morehead, took the lead 5-4 in the seventh on Ernie Banks' three-run homer, his 12th. The Dodgers tied it in their seventh then three walks, the last an intentional pass to Banks, set up Walt Moryn's winning two-run single in the ninth against losing reliever Art Fowler (3-3).

Dave Hillman (3-3), who fanned 11 in 7 2-3 innings of relief was the winner with a ninth-inning save by Don Elston.

The Cardinals, who have lost seven of eight to the Giants, blew a 3-0 lead in this one. Leon Wagner's triple and a sacrifice fly by Darly Spencer cracked a 4-4 tie in the eighth against Lindy McDaniel (3-6), the loser in relief. Stu Miller (3-0) was the winner.

A walk and Wally Post's double gave the Phils the clincher in the ninth after homers by the Red's Frank Robinson and Gus Bell had cut their lead to 3-2. Ray Semproch saved it for Jim Owens (3-3) in the ninth. Starter Joe Nuxhall (2-3) was the loser.

Walton's to Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — The Izaak Walton League's 37th annual convention in Philadelphia will probe the problem of meeting the nation's outdoor recreation needs.

Laurance S. Rockefeller, chairman of the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission, is scheduled to make the keynote speech at the 5-day convention April 22.

Rockefeller, president of Rockefeller Brothers, New York, heads the congressional commission appointed to make recommendations to the President and Congress by Sept. 1, 1961, on the nation's outdoor facilities.

Debatable Opinion

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A University of Wisconsin psychologist has confirmed what most men suspected all along: That fathers make better mothers than the mothers do.

Said Harlow: "The American male is physically endowed with all the really essential equipment to compete with the American female on equal terms with the rearing of infants."

Suspicion Pays

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP) — The marshal of the Pittsburgh city court, Joe McIlwath, apparently has a knack for spotting potential trouble-makers. When McIlwath saw three boys purchasing BB shot, he took down the license number of their panel truck. When a large plate glass window was damaged by BB shot three days later, McIlwath pulled out the license number and the three youngsters were arrested and charged.

Old-fashioned Start Planned At Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Officials of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and U.S. Auto Club today called together the 33 drivers in Saturday's 500-mile auto race to explain the "old-fashioned" start. The traditional formation will be restored after two hectic and costly prologues to the world's richest auto contest.

Under the old system, the 33 cars were lined up at the starting line with dead engines. Then the engines were started and the racers slowly followed the pace car until they were in proper positions. If the alignment was good, the race was on when they hit the starting line.

Saturday there will be an extra lap—two in all.

A car plunged into the pits in the 1956 race, badly injuring a crewman. The speedway then moved the pits away from the track edge and into the infield, separated from the track by a concrete wall and an access strip.

Speedway cars do not have self-starters and it was thought the problem of moving portable starters off the track would make the old start impractical. For two years, the cars have stayed in the pits, with drivers expected to drive onto the track and take positions behind the moving pace car.

Two years ago, two cars tangled in the parade lap and were out of the race. Last year, the first three cars got away ahead of the pace car. After an extra parade lap, they finally got in line—and then 15 cars banged together in the first official lap, killing driver Pat O'Connor.

In addition to returning to the old dead-engine lineup on the track, the Speedway has installed two-way radio communication between pace car driver Sam Hanks, the 1957 Memorial Day winner, and Chief Steward Harlan Fenger, USAC official in charge at the starting line.

Fenger will be in contact, by telephone, with eight observers stationed around the track. For the first time, the pace car driver will know where every car is located.

The official notice to the drivers warned that all must maintain their positions "until the pace car actually crosses the starting line (on the pit access strip) and the green flag is displayed as the pole car crosses the starting line."

West Virginia was a part of Virginia until the beginning of the secession movement in 1861, it became a state in 1863.

up for the younger set under the direction of Jay Lazerson, and merchandise prizes will be given as awards. Arrangements are also being made to have pony rides and little car rides for children.

Trap shooting, turkey shoots and pistol and rifle competitive shooting matches will be held throughout the afternoon.

Round and square dancing will start at 8:30 o'clock. Dick Cummings and his orchestra will furnish the music for a portion of the evening, and other musical groups are also being contacted to help furnish dance music.

Tickets for the celebration have been in the hands of Sedalia Rod and Gun Club members for several days and sales are reported to be brisk. The barbecue and all events are open to everyone in the Sedalia area.

Peace Settles On Troubled Heavy Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Peace, at last, settled on the troubled Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight promotion.

How long the peace treaty — or truce—will remain in effect, considering the volatile characters involved, remains to be seen.

Anyway Manager Gus D'Amato says his champion positively will risk his crown against Johansson, the undefeated challenger from Sweden, at Yankee Stadium, June 25.

His statement came after promoter Bill Rosenzohn had blasted him in the newspapers and on radio and television. Rosenzohn had charged that D'Amato told him he was thinking of moving the fight out of New York. The manager was angry at the New York Athletic Commission's action in rejecting luncheonette owner Harry Davidson's application to become the "10 per cent" manager of Johansson.

"I feel that the commission acted precipitously, but in the public interest I feel obliged to abide by this decision," said D'Amato in his two-page statement.

"At no time did I state that the fight would be held elsewhere than in New York," D'Amato added. "I hope that henceforth I will be able to concentrate on the job of getting Patterson ready to prove to all that he is the great champion I know him to be."

As for Rosenzohn's accusation that D'Amato had changed the terms of the promoter's share of the receipts, D'Amato said that was not so.

"I'm delighted over D'Amato's statement," said Rosenzohn. "I'm happy it's all settled," said Johansson at his Grossinger, N. Y., training camp.

"Cus does the talking and the business," said the poker-faced champion at his Chatham, N. J., camp. "I do the fighting."

Airman Decides To Forego Hearing On
Charge of Murder

GOODING, Idaho (AP)—Jackie A. Myers, 22-year-old airman from Joplin, Mo., changed his mind last night and decided to forego a preliminary hearing on a charge he murdered an 18-year-old Idaho housewife.

The decision sent the case directly to district court. A preliminary hearing had been set for tomorrow.

Myers is charged with slaying Josephine Hollon of Twin Falls, Idaho. Her nude body was found Monday near Wendell, Idaho. Sheriff Keith Anderson said Myers admitted he picked up Mrs. Hollon on a highway, parked with her and bludgeoned her with a rock when she screamed at him.

Myers is an airman second class and was stationed at Mountain Home Air Force Base, in an adjoining county. He returned to the United States about three months ago after serving in Japan. He has a Japanese wife and a year-old daughter.

CAB Recommends Fee
On Trunk-line Ticket

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner has recommended that trunk-line plane passengers pay an extra $1 for their tickets.

If the recommendation is approved by the full board, the fare increases would be used to help the nation's 12 long-haul airlines pay for new jet equipment.

CAB Examiner Ralph L. Wiser made his recommendation Wednesday after one of the longest hearings in the board's history, starting in May 1956.

The proposed increase was described as temporary, but Wiser's long decision gave no prospective date for ending it.

Wiser said the boost, along with some small but unspecified rate increases, would allow the airlines to realize fair earnings.

The surcharge would represent an over-all 12 per cent average increase the level of domestic fares before Feb. 10, 1958, when the airlines got temporary increases. Wiser recommended these temporary increases be continued past their July 31 expiration date, along with an earlier $1 surcharge permitted before 1958.

Airlines affected are America, United, Eastern, Trans World, Braniff, Capital, Continental, Delta, National Northeast, Northwest and Western.

Boyle Substitute Came From
The 'Athens of the Ozarks'

By REILMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Hal Boyle, the regular steward of this space, frequently turns poor man's philosopher and makes with homely observations on the passing show. In his absence—Hal is revisiting Europe—I take the liberty of introducing a substitute, sort of a Poor Poor Man's Philosopher, in the person of one of America's foremost architects.

Edward Durrell Stone came to fame from Fayetteville, Ark., which he calls "the Athens of the Ozarks." In appearance, manner and mountain drawl, he greatly resembles the late Arkansas comedian, Bob Burns.

He built the American pavilion in the Brussels World's Fair last year, along with museums, embassies, industrial plants, private homes and other structures. His new medical center for Stanford University opens next fall. With financier Robert Dowling, he is currently working on a replanning project for downtown Akron, Ohio.

Architects generally have pronounced views on subjects not closely related to cantilevers and free-flowing living space. Here is Edward Stone on some aspects of the American scene:

The American Male — "I think a woman's job is to rehabilitate not only the physical appearance of this country, but the male himself. She must get him out of a hula shirt and into a dinner jacket. At present, while she may be wearing a lovely, diaphanous frock, he looks like an unmade bed or a one-man slum."

Cities — "Politicians always say that if the opposition candidate is elected to office, grass will grow on Main street. Of course, this is exactly what should happen."

Modernism — "Don't be modern. Being modern simply consists of closing your mind to 2,500 years of Western culture and remaining content to copy the next-door neighbor's glass building, house, chair, drapery and poodle."

I have two tests by which you can readily determine whether you are modern or not. If you prefer a bent chrome chair to a rocker, or a high-powered car to a horse-drawn carriage, you need therapy."

The Countryside — "Someone has said that in this era of prosperity and overabundance, we seem to be able to afford everything but beauty."

Highways — "All highways should be free of billboards and hamburger joints. All should be tree-lined. Recently, a high official of the automobile industry recommended that all trees should be cut down along the highways as a menace to motorists. Perhaps the industry could eliminate four feet of vulgarity from the length of the car and better spend the money creating destinations for motorists."

The American Home — "Twenty years ago we had living rooms of 20 by 30 feet. Now you can only tell a room from a closet by the hook strip on the wall."

American Customs — "The current rage for informality in American life is a lame excuse for laziness. It is obviously easier to feed the children hamburgers in the back yard than it is to have them sit at a dinner table. This all stems from California which, by the way, Fred Allen said was a fine place if you were an orange."

Creativeness — "If you are jealous of your ideas, it is a sign you have too few."

Out-of-doors — "Long ago, the government made the farmer realize it is unprofitable to plow land down the hill and let it wash away. Laws protect our forests. But I know of no laws that prevent us from despoiling our beautiful physical heritage. We do everything rapidly in this country and I think that in 30 or 40 years we have converted it from the most beautiful country to one of the ugliest."

The American Woman — "H. L. Mencken said no man should ever make an important decision without first consulting his wife—simply because she is a creature of superior intelligence. There is

Performer Keeps On Singing As
Curtain Blazes

NEW YORK (AP)—"When I spotted the flames, I nudged Andy. Neither of us moved. I just kept on singing louder and louder to drown out the noise backstage."

Speaking was Dolores Gray, blonde leading lady of the Broadway musical "Destry Rides Again."

Dolores, as a dance hall hostess, was warbling to Andy Griffith, who plays the shy sheriff, when a backdrop curtain caught fire Wednesday at the matinee performance. About 1,500 persons packed the house.

Flames curled up the curtain for about 20 feet. Smoke began billowing about the Imperial Theater.

Loud noises came from backstage as fire extinguishers were rushed into action. A few persons in front rows got up to leave.

Miss Gray, who had been softly singing "Anyone Would Love You," belted out an encore.

Practically all the theatergoers remained in their seats.

Out front came Leonard Patrick, the stage manager. "There is a little fire," he said. "There is no danger. We'll resume the show in a few minutes if you'll just go outside and wait for us."

The audience trooped out to the lobby as though it was routine intermission (it was only the end of the first act).

When they returned to their seats, they patiently watched mopping up operations. Backstage crews had the fire out before firemen arrived.

Revolt Amid Democrats On Subsidy Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revolt among leading House Democrats against mounting farm subsidy costs threatened today to delay indefinitely House action on pending agricultural legislation.

The uprising developed in the House Rules Committee, which has the power to block House consideration of any piece of important legislation.

Caught in the threatened blockade were two major farm bills ready for house action.

One would increase the government price support level for small livestock feed grains such as oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums. The other would attempt to stem the costly and mounting wheat surplus by raising price supports in return for reduced plantings.

The Rules Committee's attitude appeared to make certain continuance of a wheat program under the present law for another year. Secretary of Agriculture Benson is required to announce marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1960 wheat crop not later than Monday.

There remained a possibility that if Congress were to change the law within 10 days, the changes could be made to affect next year's crop.

Rules Committee action has been put off at least until next week.

Reports that farm legislation is in trouble in the House were confirmed by Reps. Richard Bolling (D-Mo.) and Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. (D-Mass.), both committee members.

"All special crop legislation is in trouble," Bolling stated.

O'Neill said the price support bill for livestock feed grains could be considered dead so far as the Rules Committee is concerned.

"The wheat bill is going to be close," O'Neill said. "I'll say this—there is strong opposition to it."

"This whole farm program has proven unsuccessful. It may result in an entirely new approach. Conditions may make it mandatory."

Sources close to Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) said he also was dissatisfied with present farm proposals, referring to them as "hundred million dollars shillings" for the farmers.

Death Is Second Plastic Bag Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 65-year-old man committed suicide by placing a plastic bag over his head, police said Thursday. It was the second plastic bag death in a week and a coroner's jury recommended an immediate ban on their use by San Francisco cleaners.

Manuel Gonzales, 65, was found dead in his room. A plastic bag and a towel were over his head. The coroner said he had been dead about two weeks.

The coroner's jury's recommendation grew out of the suffocation last week of 2-month-old Duane Shelton. A cleaners' bag used as a mattress cover had bunched up under the baby's face and smothered him.

Dr. Henry C. Turkel, the coroner, asked immediate legislation to outlaw use of the bags. Dr. Elvis Sox, city health director, and Ivar Larson of the National Safety Council said they considered the hazard one to be solved principally by education.

New Physicians Get Licenses to Practice

CHICAGO (AP) — Almost 8,000 new physicians received licenses to practice medicine in the United States in 1958.

It was the sixth consecutive year in which more than 7,000 physicians obtained licenses.

Those figures were reported today by the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

The 1958 total of new licenses was 7,809. During the same period deaths among physicians numbered 3,700. So the net gain in the nation's physician population was 4,109.

Globe-Democrat Signs Lease On New Office Home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Globe-Democrat will make its new home in an office building one block away from its present headquarters.

Publisher Richard H. Amberg said yesterday the Globe had signed a 10-year-lease and takes space on the first and fifth floors of the seven-story International Shoe Company building at 12th and Delmar.

The Globe will begin publishing Monday, Amberg has said. A three-month strike of 332 Guildsmen over pension and job security was settled Friday.

Pneumatic tubes and conveyor belts will be installed underground to transmit news and advertising copy from the new building to the printing presses—one block away.

Once the Globe begins publishing it will be printed by the rival afternoon Post-Dispatch.

One week after the strike began the Post bought the building and printing equipment of the Globe. It will print the morning newspaper under contract. Otherwise, both newspapers remain independent.

The Post will move into the Globe's present building.

Amberg said the Globe will begin moving within the next month with final occupancy scheduled for around Aug. 1.

Jackson County Jail Inmate Is Convicted

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An 18-year-old inmate of the Jackson County jail was convicted yesterday of brutality toward a fellow prisoner. The jury fixed his punishment at five years in prison.

Thomas C. Gainey, one of four men charged in the case, will have for his part in a robbery before the five-year term begins.

A jury Wednesday convicted Michael J. Novogradec, 22, and Jack Gillespie, 18, and recommended 25-year sentences for them.

The fourth man, Earl L. Kuvovich, 20, awaits trial.

Gainey was accused of assaulting J. R. Rutledge, 19, who testified he was beaten and forced into acts of sexual perversion.

Rutledge also said Gainey burned him with matches. He said he suffered two broken teeth.

Gainey is married and has a 13-month-old child.

Growers Try To Reduce Grain Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for organized Great Plains wheat growers want congressmen—and the general public—to know that they are trying to do something about the big wheat surplus problem.

They are trying to build larger export markets.

An outline of their marketing activities was laid before congressional delegations for the nine great plains wheat states of Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota at a dinner conference last night.

The story of these efforts was given by Clifford R. Hope, former Republican congressman from Kansas' biggest wheat district. He had served as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

"Too many people have the idea," Hope said, "that wheat farmers are doing nothing but produce a lot of surplus wheat for sale to the government under price supports. That's not true."

Hope has helped to organize the Great Plains Wheat Market Development Assn. Inc., with headquarters at Kansas City, Kan. He is president of the organization.

It has set up market development offices at Rotterdam, the Netherlands; New Delhi, India, and Lima, Peru. It plans other offices abroad.

The association is working co-operatively with the government's Foreign Agriculture Service on projects designed to show consumers abroad how to make better use of American wheat. Experts on nutrition and bakers are being sent abroad for demonstration work among consumer groups.

The association itself does not engage in sales. Its job is to help create a greater appetite for American wheat abroad.

It is sharing with the government in the cost. It gets funds from levies on sales of wheat in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska. It hopes to get the other Great Plains states to make similar collections to help finance the program.

Author Dies From Shooting At Close Range

NEW YORK (AP)—The book's dust jacket read "Jack Willis came to Mexico to murder the man who murdered Trotsky." The whodunit's author lay dead on the doorstep outside his first-floor Brooklyn flat, himself the victim of a mystery gunman.

Police have only the clue of a man in a blue suit seen running Thursday from the scene where Russian-born soldier-of-fortune Richard Willis, 51, met death. Powder burns on his clothing showed he had been shot once in the chest at extremely close range.

It was around dinnertime when Willis' landlady, Mrs. Elsie Gregson, heard a single shot. Racing into the hall, she said, she saw the man in the blue suit dashing out the door. Willis staggered out of his 1½-room apartment and collapsed on the outside stoop. He was dead by the time an ambulance arrived.

His $65-a-month quarters showed no sign of a scuffle. A copy of his novel, "Morning in Mazatlan," lay on a table. Also found were two typewriters and a bank book showing a balance of $10,000.

The book jacket described Willis, who became a naturalized citizen in 1929, as a hobo, sailor, journalist and editor at various times in his active life.

Police said they found an empty .38-caliber shell in Willis' apartment, which he rented only six weeks ago. Two years ago Willis lived in Laurelton, Queens.

His whereabouts in the period between his Queens residence and his moving into the Brooklyn flat is another mystery.

came in contact with a live wire. Bartley also was injured in his fall to the ground. He was taken to a Jefferson City hospital.

Advance Bank Loot Located By Authorities

ADVANCE, Mo. (AP)—Authorities patiently searched the home and yard of an admitted bank robber last night and located the missing loot in the Advance, Mo. bank holdup—$13,068.

Highway Patrolman Jack Small found the money—in 10s and 20s—in a zipper bag in a big dog pen in the yard of Robert Lee Hager, 20, of Fornefelt, Mo.

Lt. E. F. Dampf of the patrol said authorities pieced together statements made by Hager and his two confederates and decided to search Hager's Fornefelt home.

Dampf also said that Hager, James A. Foy, 25, of Trenton, N. J., and Walter S. Nicholson, 23, of Livermore, Calif., had all orally admitted taking part in the robbery yesterday. All are soldiers at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Hager and Foy herded five bank employees into a vault at gun point and scooped up $17,841. Over $4,000 was found in Hager's home.

Dampf quoted Hager as saying the three planned the holdup because they wanted to make "some easy money."

Nicholson was arrested 65 miles away in Cairo, Ill., by state police who spotted a get-away car he was driving. In his pocket was a slip of paper with Hager's address.

All three have been charged with bank robbery and assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon.

Presbyterians Will Sanction Birth Control

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—United Presbyterians have joined a succession of other Protestant churches in giving official sanction to birth control.

"The proper use of medically approved contraceptives may contribute to the spiritual, emotional and economic welfare of the family," says a resolution of the denomination's 171st general assembly.

The subject has long been a source of keen friction between Protestants and Roman Catholics, who strongly oppose any artificial means of birth control.

In recent years several Protestant bodies, including the Methodist, Congregational Christian, United Lutheran, Augustana Lutheran and Unitarian Churches, have endorsed it.

The 3-million-member Presbyterian church, in the closing session Wednesday of its eight-day assembly, adopted a statement saying Christian marriage involves "both companionship and parenthood." It added:

"The sexual life within this relationship is given by God for the benefit of his children" and is not "an evil which needs to be justified by something else, as for example, by the procreation of children."

The church urged repeal of laws banning distribution of birth control information, such as those in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In other actions on its final day, the assembly:

Urged abolition of capital punishment.

Hit at laws restricting groups promoting racial integration.

Protested federal grants to activities maintaining segregation.

Condemned laws either banning or requiring union shop agreements, under which workers must join a union. Eighteen states bar such contracts by so-called "right-to-work" statutes.

Urged steps, including legislation, to prevent segregated housing.

Launched a program to curb alcoholism, and recommended "voluntary abstinence" from liquor.

Commended the National Council of Churches for its courage in facing issues by calling the world order study conference in Cleveland last fall, which advocated governmental recognition of Red China.

Described the Red China issue itself as having arguments on both sides, but expressed hope that the day soon will come when normal relations with China may be honorably established.

Tense conflict arose over confirmation of the Rev. Theodore A. Gill as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary. Despite charges that he questioned Christ's virgin birth, he was overwhelmingly approved.

The 975 delegates decided to meet in Cleveland next year.

Matter of FACT

A series of pictures illustrating the conquest of England by the Normans was embroidered at the time on a strip of linen now called the Bayeux Tapestry. It is 231 feet long and 20 inches wide. It barely escaped destruction in the French Revolution, but it has been cherished since then. There are about 72 scenes remaining of the ones that originally composed the tapestry. It is preserved in the Bayeux Museum, France.

Crawford Is Back Among Movie Sets

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "A day never went by without his telling me how much I meant to him. That's memory enough for me. What more could a woman want in life?"

This was a sad, serious Joan Crawford speaking of her life with soft drink magnate Alfred Steele, who died suddenly April 19. She is back in the haunts she knows well—the arc-light world of movie sets.

She looks as good as ever, the same freckled, unlined face, the disciplined figure even slimmer. But something seems different. Long the epitome of the movie star, she appears to have lost that one-mindedness about her acting career. The reason, perhaps, is that she found in her fourth marriage—her marriage of maturity—her greatest happiness.

"They were four wonderful years," she reflected. "I can't tell you how much they meant to me."

"Alfred respected me and what I had done. Always in press conferences he would refer to me as 'Miss Crawford.' Others might call me 'Mrs. Steele,' and he would in private. But he said I deserved to be called by my own name in public for what I had achieved."

"I tried to help him as much as I could. When we went into a new city, I'd find out how many bottlers there were and how much concentrate was used, etc. He was amazed and asked me how I knew such things. I told him it was just that old movie training of keeping my ears open and learning things."

They traveled 300,000 miles together, promoting Pepsi Cola throughout the world.

She is carrying on, having been elected to the firm's board of directors. Meanwhile, she is back to make her first film here in four years, "The Best of Everything."

"It's a small part—four scenes, only," she said. "But I'd rather have four good scenes in an important picture than to appear throughout a mediocre one."

Betty F. and Appliances Mark Tenth Anniversary

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — This spring marks the tenth anniversary for Betty Furness. She's been doing the Westinghouse commercials for a decade, and that's a heap of refrigerators.

Before you start calling her the grand old lady of commercials, please be advised that this handsome blonde still looks as fetching as she did when she toddled after her first vacuum cleaner. And she's every bit as charming as she was then — plus being considerably richer.

Doing the commercials has sort of cramped her acting style. Not that the sponsor insists on keeping her from dramatic roles, but Betty can't get a job.

"I've had a non-exclusive contract right along," she says, "except for one three-year deal. But it's gradually come to be exclusive, even though I don't want it. I can't get a part on a live TV show — the producers say the audience would take one look at my face and it'd be a plug for Westinghouse. And I can't do a filmed show — who knows who will be sponsoring it next year?"

"So I'm stuck. But, look, I do not regret it. I don't kid myself. I wouldn't be as famous or rich if I'd tried to make a go of it as an actress. Ten years ago, I'd been in the business a long time. If I was going to be a big star, I would have known it by then."

This, as you can see, is a gal who is honest with herself. And she's honest enough to prefer to do her commercials the hard way — live — even though the sponsor wants them on film.

Banquet Given By Knob Noster Church

A banquet was given Friday night by the Knob Noster Baptist Church for intermediates and young people of the church, honoring especially the graduates.

The theme was "The Sea of Life."

Honor graduates were: Virginia Allen, Dennis Ray Baker, Donna Bowden, Bucky Lewis, Dale Parrott, Cody Rhinehart, Delores Silvis, Brenda Templeton and Wayne Thompson.

High School graduates: Claudine Allen, Evelyn Anderson, Sharon Kay Baker, Larry Brant, Howard Bullard, Joyce Chapman, Maggie Daniel and Darlene Droegge.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Gene Parrott.

The Rev. Ronald Rasch, pastor of the church, gave the welcome, and the response was given by Kay Baker.

Dr. Curtis Hutcheson of Warrensburg was the speaker of the evening.

So she goes to Hollywood every once in a while, films a bunch for Desilu Playhouse ("A bunch is anywhere from three to 20") then flies back home to New York.

"I'd stay in Hollywood," she says, "but there's nothing for me to do out there. I don't play their games."

Speaking of sponsors, they do have some peculiar notions. Like the soap company which is bank-rolling the new picture show, "Brenner." When Alvin Boretz first wrote this for Playhouse 90, it was called "The Blue Men," and that was going to be the name of the series.

But the sponsor is a soap company. He makes white soap, not blue soap. So he insisted that "The Blue Men" as a name was out. And they couldn't sell it "The White Men" without re-writing it to feature the Sanitation Department, so they're calling it after one of the characters, Brenner.

It looks like the Jimmy Dean

Dean

Wendell

Show on CBS is kaput, even though Jimmy has received hundreds of thousands of letters asking the network to keep it on. Jimmy isn't too downhearted — the letters prove the fans like him, the network insists they will find another spot for him, and, anyhow, he can always remember the leather jacket when things get tough.

The leather jacket, to Jimmy, is the symbol of how bad things can be. Some years ago, he and some friends made up a small country band and found themselves stranded in Philadelphia. Finally, when everything pawnable had been pawned, Jimmy worked a deal — he traded his leather jacket for 20 hamburgers. And that tided them over until things started to break right.

Although quiz shows in the evening are pretty well a thing of the past, the daytime schedule is brightened considerably by the presence of Bill Wendell who makes Tic Tac Dough a very pleasant stopover between soap operas.

Wendell is a rarity — a New York born, New York bred announcer. There's no trace of New

BETTY FURNESS: A decade of opening refrigerators.

York in his speech and, in fact, most people think he's from the Midwest somewhere.

The career of this big, pleasant fellow has another rare twist. He decided as a youth that he wanted to announce. After his World War

II service, he went to Radio City, asked NBC for an audition, got it, took it — and they gave him a job with their affiliate station in Rochester, N. Y. He'd had no training and no previous experience. About the only other person with such a record at NBC is named Sarnoff.

Bill likes "Tic Tac Dough," spices it up with enough of his ready wit to keep it sailing and have some fun — but, like all daytime TV personalities, he longs for a chance to crack the nighttime schedule.

"Any kind of nighttime show," he says, "would be fine. A quiz, variety, anything."

He's just about conquered what he says is the hardest thing for an announcer. That's making the transition from just a voice to being a personality. he says, "the rest is downhill."

Sedalia Concert Group to Perform Friday at Park

The Sedalia Concert Band, under the direction of Lloyd Knox, will open the summer concert season at Liberty Park Friday night, with the performance beginning at 8 p.m.

This season's concerts will be held at the new recreation platform, provided by the Park Board, located just north of Convention Hall. On the new platform, the musicians will be seated at ground level, and there will be seating arrangements provided by park officials for everyone.

"A complaint concerning performances in previous years has been that some people have had to sit on the wet grass," a spokesman from the band told The Democrat-Capital, "but this year there should be seats for everyone."

The concerts for the following 11 weeks will be held on Thursday night, at 8. It is being held this Friday, to avoid conflict with the scheduled Smith-Cotton High School commencement exercises Thursday in near-by Jennie Jaynes Stadium.

Musicians for the concert series are furnished through a grant from the Recording Industry Trust Fund arranged for through the cooperation of Local 22, American Federation of Musicians, in cooperation with the Sedalia Park Board.

Officers of the band are Chester Edging, assistant director; Larry Judd, business manager; and Bob Cummings and Gordon Fitch, librarians.

Music for the first concert is as follows:

Mississippi Governor Indicates He Will Not Call a Grand Jury

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman indicated Thursday he will not convene a special grand jury to consider an FBI report on the lynching of Mack Charles Parker.

Coleman said the report will be given to the local district attorney in plenty of time to prepare his case for the next regular session of the Pearl River County, Miss., grand jury in November.

The Mississippi governor appeared before a Senate judiciary subcommittee to testify on civil rights legislation. But he spent most of the time answering questions about the Parker case.

New Laundry On Limit To Open Friday

A new automatic laundry facility, the newest in Sedalia, will open Friday, May 29, at 1809 South Limit.

The new facility will be known as the Dutch Maid Coin-o-Matic Laundry, and is operated by King Enterprises, with Chester Edging and E. G. Kehde as co-partners. The facility will be coin-metered and open 24 hours a day, including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

There will be 20 new Maytag washers, six new Heubach driers, and a starch sink. It will be hospital clean, and the washers and driers will clean themselves automatically. On hand for the convenience of customers will be wheeled clothes baskets, two large folding tables, soap-vending machines and candy and soft drink dispensing machines.

An air-conditioned lounge will soon be under construction, with new furniture and plenty of room for the children.

Customers may use as many washers and driers as needed for the family wash. It will take less than one hour to do the wash, in rain-soft water, effecting a considerable saving in soap and detergent.

The machines will have full-cycle safety lids, and a tub brake. This means that all action stops within six seconds whenever the lid is raised. This offers protection to the user, inquisitive children and the laundry owner as well. The tub brake stops the spinning tub quickly, eliminating additional time required if the tub were allowed to coast to a stop.

They will also have a top-loading feature, water temperature control and automatic lint removal. The driers are the most modern, and will handle three washer loads, or 27 pounds of wet wash.

Parking space has been provided to accommodate all customers. King Enterprises already has one laundry in operation at Versailles, and one under construction in Eldon and one in east Sedalia. The laundry in east Sedalia is located on Emmett between Seventh and Eighth.

The new laundry opening Friday will be completely automatic and unattended.

House Cuts Defense Sum $399,861,000

Committee Blasts Pentagon Bickering Sides With Army In Missile Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee Thursday blasted at Pentagon bickering, cut $399,861,000 from new defense funds, and sided with the Army in the latest Army-Air Force missile dispute.

The threat of Soviet aggression is expected to worsen, the committee said as it recommended $38,848,339,000 in new funds for the Army, Navy and Air Force for the fiscal year starting July 1. The cut thus amounted to just over one per cent.

In a bill sent to the House floor for wide open debate next week, the committee put dollar emphasis on missile development, anti-submarine warfare and strategic bombers. It called the latter a potent deterrent to aggression because of its ability to strike back destructively.

The committee told President Eisenhower it would not quibble over the added cost if he decided to keep some of the big bombers in the air around that clock to prevent them from being destroyed on the ground by a sneak attack.

The committee turned down Eisenhower's request for 260 million dollars for a new aircraft carrier for the Navy, saying the money could better be used for the anti-submarine warfare program.

It also rejected the President's proposal to reduce National Guard strength below 400,000 and that of the reserve below 300,000, but it went along with his plan to cut the Army by one division and to lower Marine Corps personnel to 175,000. Floor fights are in prospect over amendments to raise Army strength from 870,000 to 900,000 and to freeze Marine Corps strength at 200,000.

In a move frankly designed to force the Pentagon to settle its rivalries over which service has the best missiles, the committee lopped $162,700,000 from the Air Force Bomarc missile program and increased funds for the Army Nike-Zeus missile. Both are designed as defensive weapons against other missiles.

The committee allotted the $38,848,339,000 this way: Army, $9,206,905,000, an increase of $221,905,000 over the President's bid and $155,203,800 over current year appropriations.

Navy, $11,025,103,000, a cut of $82,672,000 for the request and $455,207,400 less than this year's fund.

Air Force, $17,228,506,000, a cut of $538,694,000 from the request and a cut of $753,770,800 from this year's allotment.

Office of defense secretary, $1,387,825,000, a $400,000 cut in the request but a boost of $13,906,300 over current year money.

Feed Grains and Soybeans Under Selling Pressure

CHICAGO (AP)—The feed grains and soybeans were under general selling pressure Thursday on the Board of Trade but appeared to have hit bargain prices after extreme declines of a cent or more a bushel.

When it seemed those contracts were on the verge of breaking through an accumulation of stop loss selling orders they attracted a sufficient volume of demand to recover about half the losses.

Wheat derived some strength from reports that plant disease appeared to be spreading through the crop in parts of Kansas and Nebraska and that rain had further delayed harvesting in the Southwest.

Wheat closed 3/4 cent a bushel higher to 1/4 lower, July $1.85-85 1/4; corn 1/2-3/4 lower, July $1.24-3/4 1/4; oats 3/4-1/2 lower, July 62 1/2; rye unchanged to 3/4 higher, July $1.22; soybeans 1/4-1 1/2 lower with the new crop months off only small fractions, July $2.26 1/4-3/4.

The Big Four Ministers In Talk With Ike

Foreign Ministers In U.S. to Attend Funeral of Former Secretary Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers headed back to Geneva Thursday under prodding by President Eisenhower to produce enough results to justify a summit meeting on the German crisis.

In the plush lounge-like quarters of a U. S. Air Force DC6, the four men will be virtually face to face for the 17-hour flight across the Atlantic.

Eisenhower met with the foreign affairs chiefs at the White House for 30 minutes in the morning. His admonition to get results was obviously aimed mainly at Andrei A. Gromyko of the Soviet Union.

The President called for "a measure of progress" at the Geneva meetings if the Soviets want a summit conference.

Western strategists figure Gromyko's boss, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, sorely wants a summit session. Eisenhower used this prod—no Geneva progress, no summit—to try to nudge the talks out of the stalemate which has existed since they began May 11.

After the White House conference, the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Soviet Union took off in the plane of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for the return trip to Geneva.

Eisenhower was quoted as having remarked jokingly before they took off that the foreign ministers should stay aloft until they reach agreement.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, relaying Eisenhower's remarks to newsmen, added: "He said he would be ready to send a tanker plane so they could refuel in the air."

Before the takeoff, Herter advised congressional leaders the Geneva conference may last longer than expected. He said he didn't know how long. He counseled patience in dealing with the Reds and reported a high degree of unity among the Western Allies.

Earlier estimates had been that the Geneva parley might last a month.

The Soviets touched off the crisis by demanding last November the occupying powers get out of West Berlin and sign treaties with East and West Germany. The Western Allies countered with a package proposal aimed at unifying Germany, with Berlin as the capital, under safeguards for European security.

Each side has denounced the other's plan. Now it is understood Gromyko will look at the West's detailed proposal for uniting West and East Berlin under free elections.

The takeoff of the foreign ministers plane signaled the end of a speedy and busy Washington trip. The diplomats arrived here Wednesday during a two-day recess in the Geneva negotiations called so they could attend the funeral of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Thursday's highlights came at the White House: Eisenhower's half-hour private chat with Herter, Gromyko, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville, followed by a 1 1/4-hour diplomatic luncheon attended by 24 officials including the foreign ministers of 14 countries.

Gromyko, often dour at the bargaining table, was all amiability during his White House visit. After the morning session he emerged to say "we had a very pleasant and useful conversation with the President."

Lloyd and De Murville nodded in agreement as they stood behind Gromyko.

Asked if he now had more hope for success of the Geneva talks, Gromyko replied: "We would like to see success."

The White House luncheon for the larger diplomatic gathering was mainly a social affair. Eisenhower thanked the visiting dignitaries, who included Adenauer, for the tribute they paid in attending Dulles' funeral. The President posed with his guests outside the White House as they departed.

Three Army Privates Held For Robbery

Some Cash From Advance Bank Has Been Recovered

ADVANCE, Mo. (AP)—Authorities centered efforts Thursday on recovering $13,000 in missing funds after the arrest of three Army privates in the $17,841 hold-up of the bank in Advance yesterday.

Two young men armed with a machine gun and pistol invaded the bank and fled with the money after locking five employees in the vault.

The trio of Army privates from Ft. Campbell, Ky., was rounded up within 12 hours and Highway Patrol Lt. E. F. Dampf said one of them, Robert Lee Hager, 20, of Fomfelt, Mo., admitted taking part in the holdup.

A .45 caliber "burp type" machine gun and $4,400 in cash were recovered at Hager's Fomfelt home.

James A. Foy, 25, of Trenton, N. J., was seized near Fomfelt and Walter S. Nicholson, 23, of Livermore, Calif., was arrested at Cairo, Ill.

Warrants were issued charging all three with bank robbery and assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon.

The patrol said Foy and Nicholson refused to make any statement, and that Hager "hinted that very possibly he knows where the missing money is but he won't tell."

All three were to be taken to the Stoddard County Jail at nearby Bloomfield today. Nicholson already was in the jail but Hager was held at Jackson, Mo., and Foy at Benton, Mo.

Sheriff James McDaniel of Stoddard County said he planned special precautions in guarding the prisoners. The sheriff was up all night questioning the prisoners.

Employees of the bank had described the pair that entered the bank as a Mutt and Jeff combination, one about six-feet-two and the other only about five-feet-five. But the patrol said all three under arrest are fair-sized men.

Asked about the bank employees' description of one as short and stubby, a patrol officer said: "That's what happens when you're looking down the barrel of a .45."

Hager and Foy, wearing raincoats and dark glasses, entered the bank, Dampf said. He said Nicholson was driving one of two getaway cars when arrested.

Cairo is about 65 miles from Advance and Fomfelt about 20 miles away.

Organization Plan

Salvation Army Unit Divisions Explained

The international headquarters of the Salvation Army is in London, England. However the United States has its national headquarters in New York and then in conformity with the general plan the United States is divided into four territories: East, headquarters in New York; Central, headquarters in Chicago; South, headquarters in Atlanta, and West with headquarters in San Francisco.

Each headquarters is divided into departments under the immediate direction of the chief secretary who is responsible to the territorial commander for their proper and harmonious coordination. The various departments include: Field, Men's Social Service, Women's Social Service, Young Peoples' School for Officers Training, Finance and Audit, Editorial and Circulation, Public Relations, Supplies, Printing and Publishing, and others according to regional conditions — for example, the Social Welfare and Family Service Departments.

The Salvation Army was issued a certificate of incorporation in New York in 1899 which authorizes the organization to operate as a religious and charitable corporation anywhere in the United States. However, it has been found advantageous in the interest of property holdings to incorporate in several individual states — for example, in Missouri.

An additional element, peculiar to the plan of administration in the United States is the Citizen's Advisory Board. It is the function of these boards to assist in maintaining sympathetic relations with the public. The help in interpreting the aims and purposes of the Salvation Army to the people and in turn advise the Army officers on matters of service to the community. The board reviews the annual budgets and lends their influence and active assistance in seeing that necessary funds are raised.

The Men's Social Service Department is a unit of work of individual institutions, such as the Social Service Center. The Social Service centers are institutions where hard work and simple religious truth is combined as a cure for human waywardness. Unfortunately men spend varying periods in them for the purpose of working themselves back to respectability. They sort and bale waste paper, repair furniture and clothing, etc., collected from citizens. The paper is returned to the mills and the remade furniture is sold to low income persons at nominal prices. The men are ultimately placed in positions and are frequently reunited with their families. The Social Service Center is one of the few self-supporting institutions. There are 109 centers in the principal cities of the United States.

Workingmen's Hotels: Home-like hotels in which temporarily embarrassed or low-wage earning men are provided with comfortable lodgings in a wholesome atmosphere either at a nominal price or without charge. There are 126 of them in the United States.

Employment Bureaus: Systematically organized, and operating in a close cooperation with governmental, business and industrial establishments. In a year's time 96,146 men and women found permanent employment through the service and 3,464 found temporary jobs. No charge is made for this service.

The Women's Social Service Department includes: Maternity Homes and Hospitals: Described by experts as "setting a standard for all such institutions in the country," they are maintained to provide care for unmarried mothers. The girls are given the best medical and surgical treatment and provided with a home-like haven before and after the birth of her child. Understanding and untiring effort is directed towards helping each mother to work out her own best plan. The girl is taught how to care for her baby and usually is eager to keep it after she has cared for it for a few months. Where the foster home plan is adopted arrangements are made through the child placement agencies of the state. There are 34 of these Homes and Hospitals in the United States.

Settlement Houses and Nurseries: Maintained in the larger cities. In addition to the nursery work, there is a professional staff of visitors and instructors who advise and help the families in the homes from which the children come. The settlement house being the nucleus for extensive community service.

Children's Homes and Hospitals: Maintained for orphans and children whose parents are temporarily unable to care for them.

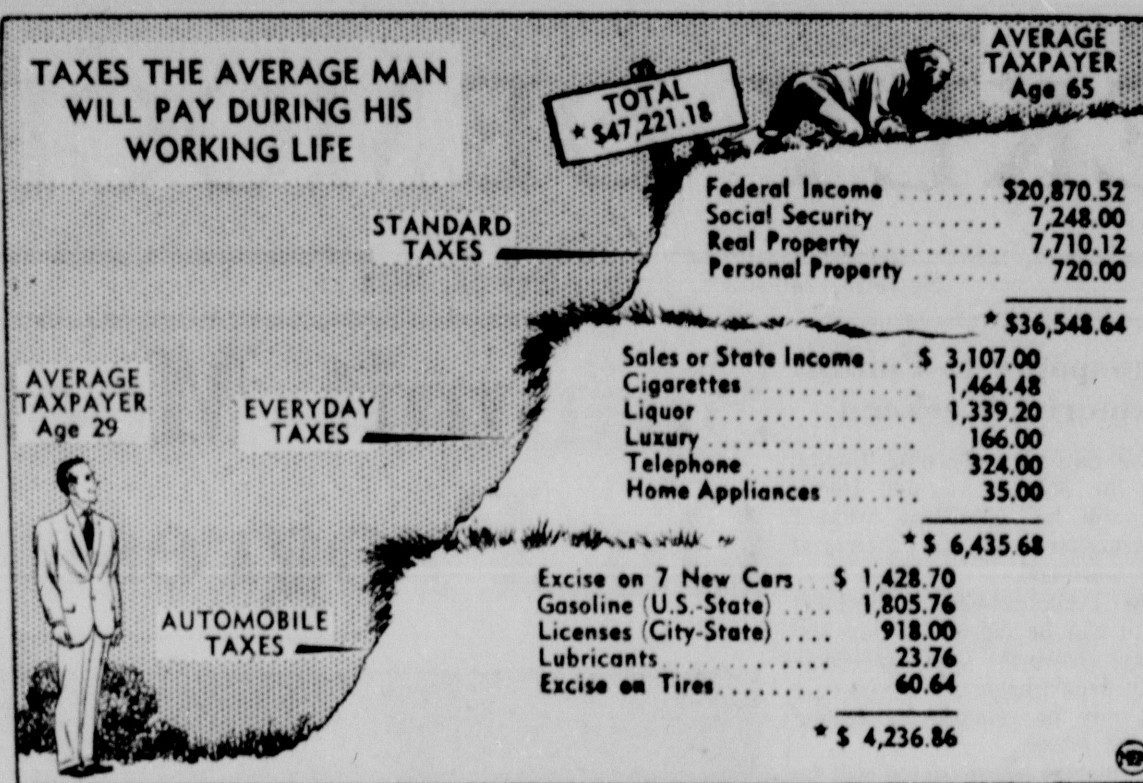

Working Women's Homes: For the middle-aged working women who have no homes of their own — a sphere of social service far too long overlooked.

Young Women's Residences: Providing a wholesome environment for self-supporting girls. Salvation Army operates a chain of modest club hotels. The extremely reasonable rates includes a pleasant room, two meals per day, facilities for laundry work, private lounges for the entertainment of guests and a library, a reading room and sometimes a gymnasium. There are 12 of these institutions in the United States.

Family Service: This manner of ministering family service depends upon the size of the community.

In the local units family service consists simply of relieving acute material needs and making sure that other needs are met through proper local agencies.

In larger areas, however, the work is intensified far beyond monetary aid; it is carried to the deepest possible helpfulness, and reaches into individual analysis of the cause and the sociological and spiritual treatment which will help fit the man or woman back to constructive, well-adjusted community living. This is achieved through the selection of Salvation Army officers and trained case-workers. In a year's time 336,233 families brought their problems to The Salvation Army and there received either material assistance of constructive counseling to aid them in finding a solution. Also transient and homeless individuals were given 3,009,704 meals and provided with 938,523 lodgings.

Mrs. Ted Bartlett Speaks

Mother-Daughter Banquet Held at First Christian

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church was held in the fellowship room of the church Thursday evening, May 14, with Mrs. Ted Bartlett, of Amity, state Christian Women's Fellowship president, as speaker.

Presiding was Mrs. M. O. Stevens.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Herbert Seifert.

Mrs. Bartlett, in her talk, said that mothers belong to every country, and every race. They are makers, because they make dresses, cookies, candy, doll clothes; they are menders for their men, broken hearts; they are moderators, for they are moderators of the family budget, words with daddy, little fights; they are teachers, they teach prayers, help to teach spelling, counting; they are counters, they count pennies, calories and hours. They are immune to surprises for they may find anything in a drawer or some place about the house and anything from bugs to frogs in the pockets of their children's clothes.

A mother has very discouraging and trying days, her child runs out in the street, her foot burns, a dozen things go wrong, she wishes she was raising chickens

Names Are Appropriate

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A venire issued in municipal court summoned one juror named Justice and another named Innocence.

instead of children, but when her child comes in and says he loves her she thanks God she is raising children instead of chickens.

In the Bible there are many instances where it refers to mothers and daughters. Of course, the greatest mother was the mother of Jesus. She knew she would bear a son who would be the Saviour, she heard him talk in the temple, she saw him die on the cross. Then there was the mother who placed her son in a basket in the water to save his life and when he was found, the woman who found him was allowed to care for him the first seven years of his life, the most important years in the training of a child. The two women who fought over the child and the wise king decided to find which was the real mother of the child by stating he would cut the child in half, giving a half to each mother. Grandmothers are important, too, Mrs. Bartlett said, and they are mentioned in the Bible.

The home is woven with mother love, the speaker said, but a mother needs forbearance, backbone and a lip zipper. She should not say anything that hurts. The measurements for a mother are how wide is her understanding, how long is her patience and how deep is her love.

People, no matter how old, remember things their mother said and did, and some of the teenagers asked to name things they remembered from their childhood days, listed hospitality in the home, visitors, little trips and other things they enjoyed doing with their mothers.

Every parent, Mrs. Bartlett pointed out, is in a position to control the memories which the child carries through life.

Mrs. Seifert also introduced Miss Eva Marie Johnson, a missionary from the Christian Church to Mexico. Miss Johnson, in speaking of the decorations said: "Isn't it wonderful for people to take the time and effort to make things beautiful?" The tables of which she spoke were exceptionally attractive with a large arrangement of yellow roses on the speaker's table on either side of which were two branch crystal candelabra holding yellow candles. At each end of the table and on the other tables were crystal stemmed rose bowls with yellow roses between two crystal bud vases holding yellow rosebuds. At intervals on the table were lighted yellow tapers in crystal holders. Favors were little candy angels holding tiny candles in pale yellow on small yellow paper lace doilies. Programs were fan shaped also in yellow tied with green bows.

Mrs. Stevens gave a beautiful tribute to mothers and ended it with reading a poem written for the occasion.

Soloist was Mrs. Robert Seelan who sang "Mother Mine" and "Challenge for Mothers."

A musical reading "The Patchwork Quilt" was given by Mrs. Everett White.

Mrs. Jack Herndon and Mrs. T. E. Owens sang "May You Always" and "Melody of Life."

Mrs. J. W. Watts served as accompanist for all.

The scripture reading was by Mrs. Richard Spellman.

Yellow rosebud corsages were given to the two oldest mothers, Mrs. Clara Owens, 86, and Mrs. W. L. Meyer, 84. The youngest daughter present, Debbie Davidson, won a yellow rose corsage for her mother, Mrs. Joyce Davidson. Mrs. R. F. Trueman received a yellow rose corsage for having the largest representation of girls in her family, with ten present.

Mrs. J. C. Saunders, the incoming president was introduced. The committee in charge of the decorating were Mrs. W. C. Cain, Mrs. Ralph Dyer, Mrs. Roy Kirchoff, and Mrs. Berry Elliott. Mrs. P. C. Owen, in charge of the dinner was introduced and her committee and the dining room committee were thanked.

June 1 Is Deadline To Dispose of Wheat

Farmers of Pettis County have only until June 1 to dispose of wheat planted in excess of their acreage allotments, C. A. Staples of the Pettis County ASC committee said today.

Staples cited several advantages for the wheat grower who disposes of excess acres and brings his acreage for harvest down to the allotment. These include eligibility for wheat price support and Soil Bank payments, freedom from a marketing quota penalty on wheat and credit for acreage diverted from wheat this year in computing his allotment in future years.

Farmers who have any questions about excess wheat disposal are urged to get in touch with the county ASC office for further information.

To Raise Funds

2 Important Projects Set By Kiwanians

Two major projects are scheduled for Sedalia Kiwanis club activities during the month of June, in addition to numerous minor ones, according to President Sylvan Woolery.

The club's first project is a Crippled Children's Bowling Benefit to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, June 12 at Broadway Lanes. Second is the annual auction sale downtown Saturday, June 27 to raise funds for the Boys and Girls Work committee, and to equip a room at Bothwell Memorial Hospital.

Under leadership of Bill Dugan, general chairman of the bowling benefit and Norman Pitcairn, general chairman of the auction, committee work to arrange the details has already intensified. Both chairmen have reviewed the work program involved at the past two club meetings, along with the names of 18 committees which will be required to implement the two projects.

Cooperating to publicize the activities will be the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, Radio Station KDRO and KSIS, and Television Station KMOS-TV. The latter will telecast the bowling event.

Management of Broadway Lanes is a joint participant in the Crippled Children's activity and will turn over receipts that evening to the fund which has been so generously supported in the past.

This year's bowling benefit goal is $2,000.

Public participation will be encouraged by adoption of numerous interest-compelling features during the bowling competition between individuals and teams from local organizations. All alleys will be kept in constant operation for five or six hours, or longer if necessary.

Further details will be announced from time to time as the committees compile them.
